COMMUNITY PROFILE

The Waynesville-St. Robert Chamber of Commerce, the 2013 Missouri Chamber of the Year, is proud to present its 2025 Community Profile and Membership Directory. Our community is comprised of two cities, Waynesville and St. Robert, and the surrounding rural areas. The combined estimated population was approximately 53,000 in 2022; Fort Leonard Wood, which is contiguous to the cities, has a day time population of roughly 34,000. Fort Leonard Wood is a Department of Defense installation. It is the home of the Engineer, Military Police, and Chemical, Biological, Radiological, and Nuclear schools and provides training for all branches of the Armed Services. We are truly blessed to have the best of both worlds--a rural lifestyle with the benefits of larger cities.

Our Chamber is dedicated to empowering our members through connection, leadership, and influence to promote a thriving community. The Chamber's goal this year is strengthening community relationships that drive local businesses.

Waynesville and St. Robert are bisected by Interstate 44, which provides access to Fort Leonard Wood and the Waynesville/St. Robert Regional Airport. Commercial air travel is available with daily flights.

Our community enjoys the benefit of one of the most exceptional school systems in the state. The Waynesville R-VI school district operates six elementary schools (one in St. Robert, one in Waynesville, four on Fort Leonard Wood), one Sixth Grade Center, one middle school, and one high school, plus a Career Center. The area also has a multitude of higher and continuing education opportunities.

Take a moment to browse this book and note all our area has to offer, in both qualities of life and business. This community is a great place to live, work, and raise a family.

OVERVIEW

Nestled in the picturesque rolling hills of Missouri's Ozark region are the towns of Waynesville and St. Robert. These communities are rapidly growing, and the Chamber of Commerce is leading the way with its mission to continue the area's prosperity and success.

The landscape of winding rivers and sparkling streams, lush forests, dramatic limestone rock formations, and caves provide the backdrop that makes these communities so appealing to new residents and businesses. Outdoor adventurers are drawn to swimming, spelunking, backpacking, camping, and hunting. The Gasconade and Big Piney Rivers frequently host families that enjoy fishing, swimming and canoeing. The Roubidoux River is home of a National Park Service Trail of Tears site, the internationally famous diving site in the Roubidoux Spring Cave, as well as award-winning trout fishing.

The economy of Waynesville-St. Robert is flourishing thanks to the constant arrival of new business and the growth of local tourism. The subsequent improvements in city infrastructure promise the continued prosperity of both communities. The Waynesville-St. Robert Chamber of Commerce is at the forefront of this effort.

Waynesville proudly displays its rich history while embracing the future. A tour of the Waynesville town square reveals a charming community where local businesses reside beside historic establishments. The Pulaski County Courthouse sits beside the Old Courthouse Museum, which dates back to the early 1900s. The original courthouse has been restored and is home to the Pulaski County Historical Society. Across the square, the Old Stagecoach Stop has been a local landmark for over a century.

Strengthening Community Relationships that Drive Local Businesses

Waynesville is a family-oriented community, and continuing improvements promise to bring additional business. Perhaps most noteworthy is the extension of Highway H, which provides convenient access to Fort Leonard Wood from Waynesville. The extension not only alleviates traffic in St. Robert but will also promote new business in Waynesville by affording easier access and traffic flow through Waynesville and opening new markets for real estate. One major local interest already located along Highway H is the Missouri State Veterans' Cemetery. Within the cemetery is the Veterans' Memorial dedicated by the community to honor veterans.

Waynesville is ever committed to historic preservation and economic development. In May 2005, the town applied for the Downtown Revitalization Grant to supplement local business contributions, which has enhanced the downtown area with beautification projects that include sidewalk replacement, landscaping, the addition of vintage lighting, and a town clock. In 2010, the City of Waynesville was honored with the state designation as a DREAM community which focuses on downtown revitalization.

Also increasing the attractiveness of Waynesville to new business is the Waynesville-St. Robert Regional Airport at Forney Field located on Fort Leonard Wood. The airfield is run jointly by the City of Waynesville and City of St. Robert and has increased its flight traffic to offer more convenient commuter access to larger metropolitan airports including daily flights to Chicago and Dallas-Fort Worth. The airfield also serves Fort Leonard Wood.

Waynesville's picturesque Laughlin and Roubidoux Parks have been enhanced by the fitness/walking trail that spans both parks. The trail follows the Roubidoux River, under Roubidoux Bridge, and into Laughlin Park. The park is also home to picnic pavilions, ball fields, new all-access Little Heroes playground, band shell, a Fitness Court, and a splash park that is open to the public throughout the summer months.

Next to Waynesville, relatively young St. Robert is also benefiting from rapid growth. St. Robert was formed in 1951 and is the business and economic hub for Pulaski County. Evidence of St. Robert's rapid growth can be found in the more than 325 businesses consisting of both national franchises and locally owned businesses. Additionally, the city's growing tourism industry supports over 3,400 hotel rooms.

The sound financial condition of St. Robert enabled many improvements in infrastructure and in the quality of life for residents. Once a convenience community that rose to support Fort Leonard Wood, the area has since tripled in size and solidified its own identity with the completion of several city projects. St. Robert expanded and upgraded Missouri Avenue, which is the main road through the heart of town, as well as the primary entrance to Fort Leonard Wood. The renovation increased the road width from two lanes per direction to three lanes and added two outer roads. The reconstruction included landscaping and the addition of improved traffic signals, which resulted in more efficient traffic flow and easier access to surrounding businesses.

St. Robert maintains a city park, complete with picnic and playground areas, softball and soccer field and a community center. The Community Center is used extensively by families and various organizations for a multitude of events which include craft and antique shows. Additional plans are in place to provide more recreational opportunities and community support for residents.

St. Robert also maintains a network of walking trails, which were financed through state and federal grants. The walking trail system remains a work in progress, and when complete, the city will have reached the goal of making St. Robert a truly walkable community. Additional recreation opportunities can be found in the indoor/outdoor aquatics center and the 9-hole St. Robert Municipal Golf Course.

Future plans for St. Robert include the construction of additional commercial and residential developments. In 2002, the city purchased a 4.5-acre site and created a green space to be used as a recreational area. The development, recommendation and implementation of policies, programs and procedures that accomplish the city's goals and objectives to ensure the continued economic health and vitality of the city is a priority.

As a tribute to members of the Armed Forces, two M-60 tanks, one an Army tank and the other a Marine tank, were decommissioned from active service and installed in two lit and landscaped parks within St. Robert. One park has large rocks that identify local military units alongside the newly added Freedom Rock while the other is planned to have a "Neon" park to celebrate Route 66.

St. Robert serves as the main gateway to Fort Leonard Wood and maintains a strong bond with the neighboring community. Fort Leonard Wood is an Army installation that dates back to World War II and is home of the Army's Maneuver Support Center of Excellence as well as a state of the art training facility for the Army Engineer School, Military Police School and Chemical, Biological, Radiological, and Nuclear School.

Boasting enviable economic growth, abundance of economic resources, access to major roadways, and a combined population of over 25,000 residents, the communities of St. Robert, Waynesville, and Fort Leonard Wood have set the foundation for future prosperity.

The Waynesville-St. Robert Chamber of Commerce leads the way for future efforts in the Waynesville-St. Robert area with its dedication to advancing economic and community interests of residents and businesses.

HISTORY

As early explorers and pioneers migrated west the state of Missouri was formed and divided into a number of counties. Originally inhabited by the Osage Indians, settlers soon arrived, attracted by the wooded forests and intriguing landscape of rolling hills, valleys, and caves.

Pulaski County was recognized in 1833 by the State Legislature in honor of Count Pulaski, a Polish Patriot. In 1838, the Cherokee Indians traveled across the area on their "Trail of Tears" to Oklahoma. The area witnessed the era of the stagecoach, the Civil War, the rise of the railroad, and the development of Route 66.

Waynesville is the oldest town in Pulaski County, established in 1843 primarily by pioneers arriving from the South. Waynesville derived its name from the famous Revolutionary War hero "Mad Anthony" Wayne. The town originated as a trading post for fur traders and trappers and eventually became an agricultural community. Most local residents were farmers, but many supplemented their income by cutting trees to make railroad ties for the local railroad.

As America's boundaries shifted west. Waynesville became an important stagecoach stop for pioneers. The preCivil War Old Stagecoach Stop still stands on the east side of the courthouse square in downtown Waynesville. It is the oldest building in Pulaski County and is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. The Old Stagecoach Stop served as a hotel, tavern and a post office for travelers on the St. Louis to Springfield Road.

Waynesville was designated as the county seat. The first sessions of court were in private homes. The first log courthouse in Pulaski

The fourth Pulaski County Courthouse was built in 1903 for $10,200. It is used as a museum today and stands next to the Pulaski County Courthouse in Waynesville, MO.

County was built in 1837 on the south side of the square. Three years later in 1840 it was replaced by a brick building that was badly burned in the Civil War. A third brick building was built and burned in 1903.

It was replaced by the Old Courthouse, which today houses a museum featuring Pulaski County artifacts, including blacksmith and carpentry tools, quilts, school materials and Civil War era items.

The current $4.4 million, 50,000 square foot Pulaski County Courthouse opened in January of 1990. It is listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

The Civil War had a dramatic affect on Waynesville. The area was predominantly Southern territory at the start of the war, but many residents avoided joining the battle. Its location on the Old Wire Road placed Waynesville in the middle of the supply route on which the Union Army moved men and supplies.

The arrival of the Union Army and its establishment of a fort on the bluff overlooking the Roubidoux Spring forced locals to pick their allegiances. The once peaceful agricultural community soon found themselves at odds with neighbors and family members.

The Union fort's mission was to protect the Old Wire Road. A historical marker on Fort Street is all that remains.

As the Civil War escalated in Missouri, many Waynesville residents left.

Men joined either the Union Army or Confederate militias or guerilla groups; women and children moved to safer territory in Illinois. Farms, homes, and businesses were looted and destroyed or burned. Many residents never returned; those that did, found their homes destroyed, overgrown, and livestock lost.

The Old Stagecoach Stop was turned into a hospital to treat wounded soldiers. Since its construction, the structure has stood as a silent witness of the eras of Pulaski County history.

It survived through the settlement. Civil War, reconstruction, the traffic on Route 66 and World War II. Always evolving with the times, the Stagecoach Stop was also used at varying points in history as a hospital, dentist's office, and now contains a room with excavation artifacts, a display of WWII memorabilia and the Museum Shop.

Stagecoaches soon made way for railroads, and by 1926, automobiles became a popular method of travel. The U.S. government commissioned a 2,400 mile road that would travel from Chicago, Illinois, to Santa Monica, California, the road would span 10 counties and 300 miles in Missouri and would travel through the heart of Waynesville. The construction of the U.S. Route 66 through Waynesville opened up an economy outside of agriculture for the area.

Originally a gravel state road, Route 66 follows an ancient ridge that was trod by migrating game and traveled by Indians in search of food. Before the Civil War, white settlers knew the route as the St. Louis to Springfield Road.

It became a communication corridor during the Civil War.

Eventually business enterprises, such as motels, restaurants, a hillbilly store, and Ozark basket sellers settled along the road. They served as catalysts for the area's growth. Modern day travelers of the route are offered a glimpse into American and Pulaski County history. A drive along the scenic road is dotted with remnants of old businesses, renovated shops, panoramic views and dramatic rock formations.

The construction of Fort Leonard Wood during World War II launched the county's last 50 years of growth and development and spurred the rise of St. Robert. Established in 1940, the post served as an infantry division training area for World War II soldiers.

Fort Leonard Wood quickly took on an engineer training mission until the end of World War II in 1945. During the Korean War Fort Leonard Wood served as a training facility again. The post was briefly deactivated, but the military demands of the Cold War and aggressive efforts by local community leaders led to the decision to make Fort Leonard Wood a permanent installation, resulting in a significant increase in training load, troop numbers, and building construction.

Old Stagecoach Stop Foundation restored and maintains what is probably the most prominent historic location in Pulaski County.

Fort Leonard Wood underwent further growth in the mid-90s when the Army moved the Chemical Corps and Military Police Training Schools to join the Engineer Training School.

Today, Fort Leonard Wood is home to the Army's Maneuver Support Center of Excellence and members of all branches of the U.S. military, and is a state-of-the-art training facility.

The Village of Waynesville incorporated and became the Town of Waynesville in 1901. In 1931, the City of Waynesville was incorporated as a city of the fourth class, and in 1971 the status changed to a city of the third class.

St. Robert was incorporated in 1951. St. Robert was first chartered as a village with 500 residents. In recent years, the city has more than tripled in size.

RECREATION

Pulaski County, nestled in the timeless Ozark Mountains, is a haven for outdoor recreation activities. The Gasconade and Big Piney rivers attract kayakers, canoeists, and bass fishers. In downtown Waynesville, trout anglers can try their luck at catching browns and rainbows within view of historic Route 66's most architecturally beautiful urban arched bridge. Visitors can enjoy a relaxing getaway at resorts offering RV parking, primitive camping, and comfortable cabins. Birders can explore the Missouri Department of Conservation areas to spot blue herons and bald eagles. Seasonal hunters and off-trail hikers seek game and solitude in Pulaski County's Mark Twain National Forest. Certified cave divers from around the world descend into the underwater depths of the Roubidoux Spring cave system. Off-road cyclists can pedal through challenging topography on country gravel roads. Professional and amateur photographers can capture pristine landscapes and wildlife throughout all four seasons.

Saint Robert's Community Center is the location for year-round events including Kickin' It Route 66 Barbecue Competition/KCBS sanctioned event, Pulaski County Regional Fair, and holiday celebrations. Tiger Typhoon Water Park is always a hit with families during the summer months with year-round indoor swimming found at the Aquatic Center. Skaters can bring their boards to the Rotary Club Skate Park, and golfers can enjoy an afternoon at the 9-hole, 3-par, putt and pitch municipal golf and disc golf course. The George M. Reed Roadside Park, located along historic Route 66, features the Route 66 Neon Park open-air museum. History enthusiasts and patriots will appreciate visiting the Saint Robert Museum, U.S.O. Chimney Commemorative, Freedom Rock and military tribute. Visitors can choose from a variety of lodging options, including quality extended stay properties to suit different budgets.

While in Waynesville, you can visit Roubidoux Park and Laughlin Park. Both parks provide access to the Roubidoux River and are connected by a paved walking trail. Roubidoux Park hosts the 3-day Route 66 Hogs & Frogs Festival, the 2-day Cave State Cruisers Car Show, the 2-day Old Settlers Days, and various community festivals and events. The park also features concerts under the bandshell, pavilions for picnicking and gatherings, and a Fitness Court with 7 functional training zones. A major highlight is the Little Heroes Playground, which is an all-accessible play area. Laughlin Park includes the world-famous Roubidoux Spring and the Trail of Tears National Historic Trail Cherokee Campsite. Seven interpretative signs have been installed between the spring and the former ford (river crossing) just north of the bridge. History enthusiasts will also want to explore the 1903 Courthouse Museum and the Old Stagecoach Stop, both of which are listed on the National Register of Historic Places. You can get a free downtown Waynesville Walking Tour brochure from the Pulaski County Tourism Bureau, which can be found at many of the unique eateries, antique stores, or gift boutiques on the Square or at the Pulaski County Visitors Center. Don't forget to take your photo at the 8-foot Waynesville Route 66 Shield or in front of murals throughout the city. You can also catch a show at Theater on the Square playhouse or enjoy the newest Hollywood blockbuster at the state-of-the-art movie theater in West Waynesville.

When visiting Fort Leonard Wood, make sure to check out the Mahaffey Museum Complex. It's the only place in the country where you can tour three United States Army branch museums - the Military Police Museum, the Chemical Corps

St. Robert Visitor Center

Museum, and the Engineer Museum - all in one location. You can pick up a historic driving tour map at the Front Gate Visitors Center. Also, consider adding Stone Mill Spring and Piney Valley Golf Course to your itinerary. Historic Route 66 connects the communities of Saint Robert and Waynesville. More than just a road, Route 66 is a world-famous destination. Pulaski County's 33-mile stretch of Route 66 is considered one of the most scenic on the eight-state route. The Pulaski County Tourism Bureau offers a free turn-by-turn brochure with vintage photographs and historical notes. You can find it at various locations in Saint Robert and Waynesville, as well as at the Pulaski County Visitors Center.

Pulaski County has a lot to offer, including various museums, multiple golf courses, music festivals, craft festivals, monthly 5k races, endurance runs, an indoor shooting range, a projection arcade with interactive video games, an outdoor archery range, haunted attractions, classic roadside stops, railroad heritage, scenic drives, Instagram-worthy backdrops, unique shopping, and a wide choice of eateries.

The Pulaski County Visitors Center is your go-to source for information about all the fun activities! Our knowledgeable and helpful representatives will give you a free copy of our Travel Guide (great for locals too!). You can also access additional trails & tours, online interactive maps, and timely blog articles at www.VisitPulaskiCounty.org. EDUCATION

Waynesville R-VI School District: A Leader in K-12 Education

Mission

The Waynesville R-VI School District serves the communities of Waynesville, St. Robert and Fort Leonard Wood; its mission is to, "Prepare and empower individual lifelong learners for opportunities as citizens and leaders."

Rankings

U.S. News and World Report has named all elementary and middle schools in the Waynesville R-VI School District as the Best of the Best. Waynesville High School has been named in the top 100 high schools in the state by U.S. News and World Report.

East, Freedom, Partridge, Thayer and Wood elementaries have earned the 2025 Best Elementary Schools badge and Waynesville Sixth Grade Center and Waynesville Middle School have earned the 2025 Best Middle Schools badge. The rankings for elementary and middle schools were released on Nov. 14, 2024.

Known for a strong emphasis on academics, Waynesville R-VI students perform above average on most state tests.

Serving the individual student

From pre-school for children with special needs to dual credit and AP college courses for high school students, the Waynesville R-VI School District serves each individual student.

The district provides services to support parents and their students with special needs throughout the entire district. Special Education services are available for preschool to high school students. At Williams Early Childhood Center, various programs stand ready to access and support the needs of young children. Parker Educational Center offers 40 spots for preschool students as well. The nationally acclaimed Parents as Teachers program provides parents with essential tools to become their child's first educator from birth to 3. The Learning Enrichment Acceleration Program (LEAP) also exists for gifted students.

Designated an A+ high school, nearly three-fourths of Waynesville High School graduates enter college. The extensive curriculum includes college preparatory courses, including AP classes, and dual college credit courses. In addition, the Waynesville Career Center's programs range from auto service technology and masonry to graphic design and culinary arts. An award-winning JROTC program competes regularly.

Outstanding facilities, resources & teachers

Waynesville R-VI offers outstanding facilities and a one-to-one Chromebook to student ratio for students in grades K-12. In addition, several buses that are used for long-distance competitions and trips are equipped with wi-fi to help keep students connected.

More than half of the district's teachers hold a master's degree or higher, and the district's teacher-to-student ratio affords opportunities for individualized instruction. School libraries/media centers offer both technological and traditional research tools to support instruction.

With the county's population rising, schools are being built and others are being merged to meet the demands of the 21st century.

Engaging students

The district serves about 5,900 students in grades K-12 in 11 schools, which are located both off post and on Fort Leonard Wood. More than 60% of the students are military impacted, making this one of the most mobile and diverse student populations in the state.

Programs, such as Student-to-Student, help students make friends quickly and acclimate to becoming Tigers. In addition, athletics, band, student organizations and Club Tiger (an after-school program for students in grades K-5), and WIN (an after-school program for grades 6-12) engage students in leadership opportunities outside the classroom. Coding and robotics clubs are available after school at all of the district's K-12 buildings.

Investing in our children's education is something that pays dividends throughout life.

To prepare students for a global economy, students focus on collaboration with others, creatively solving problems, thinking critically, and communicating effectively throughout their core and elective courses.

HIGHER, CONTINUING, AND COMMUNITY EDUCATION

The Waynesville-St. Robert and Ft. Leonard Wood area is home to a diverse range of colleges and universities committed to shaping successful futures. Whether you're a recent high school graduate, a working parent, a retired professional, or an active-duty soldier, this community offers an array of programs in higher and continuing education designed to meet your individual needs.

The number of campuses in the area continues to increase with demand.

Drury University has been a cornerstone of education in the region since 1959, with two conveniently located satellite campuses in Ft. Leonard Wood and St. Robert. Over the decades, Drury has built a reputation for excellence, offering a wide selection of degrees and certifications tailored to help students excel in their chosen fields.

As demand for quality education continued to grow, other excellent institutions expanded their presence in the area. Columbia College and Ozarks Technical Community College now provide a range of degree programs and flexible class schedules to serve the local community both in person and online. Based in Vermont, Norwich University offers online learning opportunities through its Norwich Online program. The flexibility offered by all of these schools is especially beneficial for military personnel and busy professionals, enabling them to advance their education and careers without compromising their responsibilities.

The Waynesville Career Center (WCC) further enriches the community's educational landscape by offering a variety of evening classes, certification programs, and adult-only vocational training, such as the Licensed Practical Nursing program that boasts a 100% licensure exam passage rate over consecutive years.

Whether you're beginning your academic journey, advancing in your career, or pursuing specialized training, the Waynesville-St. Robert area is equipped with exceptional resources and institutions dedicated to your success. With committed faculty and staff who genuinely care about helping students thrive, these schools are more than just places to learn—they are partners in your journey to a brighter future.

HEALTH CARE

Adjacent to St. Robert is Fort Leonard Wood's General Leonard Wood Army Community Hospital, which is accredited by numerous medical associations to include the Missouri Hospital Association. At GLWACH, the staff strives to provide excellent medical care in a kind and compassionate environment. For emergencies, Fort Leonard Wood's GLWACH emergency room accepts non-military patients. For veterans, Truman VA recently opened the Fort Leonard Wood Community Out-Patient Clinic in Waynesville.

With a commitment to bring to life the healing ministry of Jesus through compassionate care and exceptional service, Mercy serves this community with more than 50 doctors and advanced practitioners.

Mercy Clinic – St Robert is located at 608 Old Route 66 in St Robert and is only five minutes away from Ft. Leonard Wood. It's open seven days a week and offers care for the entire family, from children through adults. When you need care quickly, take advantage of the clinic's convenient care option, available from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. The clinic also offers specialty care, including podiatry, orthopedics, adult and pediatric cardiology, general and vascular surgery. Patients can receive both cardiac rehabilitation and physical therapy locally. The Mercy St. Robert campus is home to Life Line II helicopter, which serves St Robert and surrounding communities with critical care treatment and transportation.

Mercy Clinic Richland, at 905 S. Pine St. in Richland, can keep your family healthy at any stage of life, with family doctors who see children through seniors. Mercy Mercy Medical Clinic has facilities in four states. One is located in St. Robert.

Rolla is located at 1605 Martin Springs Drive and specializes in everything from family medicine to cardiology, orthopedics, oncology, ear nose and throat, gynecology, neurology, podiatry, geriatrics, ophthalmology and optometry. Patients can also receive imaging services, physical and occupational therapy, sleep lab services, endoscopy, pain management and outpatient surgery.

Mercy Hospital Lebanon, located at 100 Hospital Drive, is just down I-44, with a state-of-the-art emergency department, cancer center, birthplace, urgent care and walk-in clinic, as well as pediatrics and family medicine. You can see a specialist for everything ranging from surgery to cardiology, orthopedics, ophthalmology and behavioral health.

All Mercy doctors are connected through an electronic health record, including medical history and essential details, like medications and allergies. Those records can be seen within Mercy instantly by the entire medical team, saving critical time. The health record enables specialists to do virtual visits with patients, saving them time and money. Also, MyMercy, a free service, enables patients to see medical information, view test results, renew prescriptions, schedule appointments and e-visits using personal computers, tablets, or smartphones. For more information, visit www.mercy.net or call 573-336-5100.

As part of the Phelps Health system, the Phelps Health Waynesville Medical Plaza delivers comprehensive healthcare services to the Waynesville, Fort Leonard Wood and St. Robert communities as well as the surrounding areas. Our mission is to provide high-quality, accessible healthcare to all residents in the region. Convenient location at 1000 GW Lane Street near Waynesville High School, our state-of-the-art medical plaza serves as a full-service healthcare destination for local residents. WHAT CAN THE CHAMBER DO FOR YOU?

By becoming a member of the Chamber of Commerce you are investing in the betterment of the Waynesville - St. Robert Community. This Membership Guide is an overview of the Waynesville -St. Robert Chamber of Commerce's many programs, events, fundraisers, groups, committees, and benefits available to members. A copy of the Chamber bylaws is also available upon request. The Chamber of Commerce is committed to the growth of the community and is excited to welcome new members and serve current members by encouraging more involvement in activities and utilization of membership benefits and programs.

WHAT CAN YOU DO WITH THE CHAMBER?

Regardless if you are a business owner, business employee, or a representative for an organization, there are opportunities each month to engage with the Waynesville - St. Robert Chamber of Commerce. At Chamber events, you can network to find new partnerships and promote your business through a variety of sponsorship opportunities. "Keep It Local, It's All Here" is one of the Chamber's biggest messages. Partnership with local media outlets helps the Chamber promote our community. Connect with the Chamber to help keep local dollars in our community and ensure economic stability. Engage in your community and the Waynesville - St. Robert Chamber and make positive things happen.

PROGRAMS

Membership Plaques: A plaque is given to each member at their ribbon cutting ceremony. Display it in your business to show your commitment to the chamber and community. When membership is renewed a new year marker will be received. A plaque is available for use on a web site or social media.

Membership Directory & Community Profile: This yearly publication is distributed throughout the community and included in welcome bags and relocation mailings. Member businesses are listed alphabetically and by category.

Business Referrals: The Chamber office receives daily inquiries about businesses and service providers in the area. As a member, your business information will be given. The Chamber only refers members.

Weekly Update: The weekly update is sent to the membership each Friday and is the most effective way to keep members informed on the happenings of the Chamber and its membership. Members are encouraged to submit news and announcements at no cost. For an additional $50 a PDF flier can be added to the Weekly Update or the PDF flier can be emailed separately for $50.

Command Orientation: The Chamber attends every Command Orientation on Fort Leonard Wood. Ambassadors hand out welcome packets to new permanent party military personnel. This is an opportunity for chamber members to provide promotional items and information.

5 Things: A segment of the weekly update published for two consecutive weeks, 5 Things gives each member the opportunity to publish five facts about their business or organization along with their logo. This is a one time use benefit.

Member Business Anniversaries: The Chamber recognizes members on their 5th, 10th, 25th, 40th, 50th, 75th, and 100th Anniversary. A photo is taken and put in the weekly update and posted on Facebook.

Shop Local Advertising Campaign: The Chamber partners with our local media members to encourage shopping local in a continued effort to showcase what our local businesses have to offer. One of the ways we do this is by participating in Shop Small® Business Saturday in partnership with American Express on the Saturday following Thanksgiving.

PROGRAMS

Refer & Earn: Members who provide a viable referral that results in a Chamber membership earn a coupon for a free luncheon where they are specially recognized. The person with the most referrals for the year is recognized at the Annual Meeting.

Social Media: Only Chamber members may post announcements to Chamber social media sites.

Labels, Rosters, & Special Emailings: For a small fee, businesses may obtain a member roster or mailing labels. A special email can also be sent to the membership for a fee.

Luncheons: Held the second Wednesday of each month at a different local restaurant the luncheons are a great opportunity to get up to date information on the tourism, cities, county, school district, and Fort Leonard Wood as well as learn about the sponsoring business and network with other Chamber members. A networking luncheon is scheduled once per year with a focus on opportunity to engage with other Chamber members.

Behind the Community Podcast: The Chamber is excited to provide this podcast to our community. We want to show local residents the impact our members have on the community, and why it's so important to shop local, by sharing the story of the Chamber as well as a behind the scenes look at the stories of our members. Take a few minutes twice a month to listen to some of our community's amazing business owners and leaders as they tell their stories. Get to know the people behind the businesses you love.
